CONSTITUTION AND SUN.

From Yesterday's Evening Edition.

ATLANTA, SEPTEMBER 5, 1873.

Summary of State News.

THOMPSON.

The Thompson merchants are making their arrangements for the fall trade, and several have gone North.——Mr. N. T. Baston, of McDuffie county, is the owner of the first bale of cotton brought to the Thompson depot this season.——The buildings at the White Oak camp ground near Thompson are rapidly approaching completion. The tent holders are also large attendance when the meeting opens, and are making their arrangements accordingly.——The regular term of the McDuffie Superior Court commences Monday, the 15th instant; but Judge Gibson has adjourned the court from that day to the Wednesday following. There are 101 cases on the dockets for trial.—Journal.

LAWRENCEVILLE.

The camp meeting near Lawrenceville, which started last Wednesday closed on Monday, after a very interesting and good meeting.——Buford is afflicted with another mineral spring. It takes a day's work in that unfortunate land to find a place to dig a well, and avoid striking mineral water.—Herald.

The man with the great moral, religious, and soul-refreshing panorama, has turned up in Lawrenceville. The citizens of that burg are nightly edified by visions of a pensive Daniel surrounded by a few very amiable lions, Adam and Eve clad in fig leaves of extraordinary magnitude, and unknown species, and waking forth from beneath a few half dead apple trees and rose bushes, entitled the "Garden of Eden," three or four gentlemen of rather pleasant countenances being boiled together in a pot, and other Biblical and historical scenes. The whole is enlivened by the dulcet strains of a second-class barrel organ.

SAVANNAH.

The matrimonial market in Savannah is very fair. During August eleven white and twenty-nine colored people took out licenses from the Ordinary.——A case of revolting and disgusting miscegenation came off on Tuesday at Justice James Porter's office. The negro man is named Henry Page, and the white woman Susan Edy. The negro gave bond, but the woman has been sent to jail.——A circular was received a day or two since by our State Senator, Hon. Rufus E. Lester, and each of our Representatives, Marshall, Mills and Mercer, from the Trustees of the State University, informing them that they have each the privilege of nominating a youth from the county to school-boy in the University. The appointees will have free tuition but will be compelled to pay their own board.——There is a little unpleasantness between the former colored Captain of the Lincoln Light infantry, now Lieutenant Colonel of the regiment and the Lieutenant of the same company. The ex-Captain charges the latter with stealing the colors of the company from his house. The Lieutenant has been arrested, but has given bond, and is now threatening vengeance.—Advertiser and Republican.

A row occurred last Tuesday on board the steamer Rosa between a deck hand and the cook. It commenced with tossing biscuits and watermelon rinds, and wound up with a hickory stick and a broken head. The cook wielded his stick according to the most approved style, and performed a tattoo on the other's head that would have served for a regiment. At last accounts the cook and his stick were trying to dodge a warrant.

The Savannah barbers have to grease their poles to keep enterprising small boys from climbing them to steal the balls on the top.

AUGUSTA.

A solitary snipe was feeding yesterday afternoon on Broad street in a drain. It happened to be a tame snipe, and, although there was a tremendous rush for guns, the fact was disclosed in time to stop all shooting.——The watermelon trade of Augusta has become a feature. This year the home consumption and shipments North, in spite of cholera rumors, have been enormous.——Tuesday afternoon Messrs. Yick Rogers and James Jennings, house painters, fell from a defective scaffolding to a distance of twelve or thirteen feet. To unaisely their injuries were not serious.—Constitutionalist.

COLUMBUS.

A campmeeting commences next Thursday in Meriwether county, on what is known as Warm springs camp ground, located three miles from the Warm springs.——On last Saturday morning Sheriff John J. Sapp succeeded in arresting a negro murderer. The negro is accused of killing Frank Galloway two years ago, at the Banks plantation.——The Superior Court of Muscogee county commences its next term on the 1st of October.——Funeral services were held at St. Luke's Methodist Episcopal Church on Tuesday over the remains of Mr. David Hogan.——Tuesday evening Miss Della Patten, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of the late Mr. R. Patten, was married to Mr. Henry Bruce, the Bookkeeper of the Eagle and Phœnix Manufacturing Company. Ceremony by the Rev. Arminius Wright. A brilliant reception was afterwards given at the residence of the bride's mother.—Sun.

ATHENS.

Mrs. Matthews, daughter of the late Colonel Giles Mitchell, and wife of Colonel J. D. Mathews, of Kentucky, died at the residence of her mother, in this city, on Thursday last. This is the third wife Colonel M. has lost.——The commissioners have selected a site for the new Court House in Athens, the lot known as the Stephens lot, fronting the late residence of Chief Justice Lumpkin, on Prince Avenue.—Southern Watchman.

EATONTON.

During the thunder storm early Friday morning, the lightning struck a tree on the farm of Mr. Mark Rivers, eight or ten miles from this place, and killed two mules.——Mr. Johnson, father of Mrs. Harbert, died on Monday, the 25th ult. The deceased was a Swede, and had only been in this country a few years.—Messenger.

An Eatonton school teacher concluded the other day that he would jump the fence near the house instead of going through the gate. He did so. The ditch on the other side was only five feet deep. The jumpist will hereafter wear his right leg in a sling, and confine his agility to his classes.

THURSDAY NOON DISPATCHES

DEAD BEAU HICKMAN.

SOME SACRILEGIOUS SURGEONS RIFLE HIS GRAVE AND MUTILATE HIS DEAD BODY.

HIS HEART FOUND WRAPT IN A NEWSPAPER.

WASHINGTON, September 4.—Beau Hickman was buried from the hospital in the public burying ground yesterday. A subscription was made to give him better interment.

The undertakers employed by the managers of this charity found the grave desecrated. The limbs, viscera and brain had been removed. The heart was found neatly wrapped in a newspaper, which the mutilators probably forgot in their haste. A surgeon's knife was found near the grave. The mutilation was evidently performed by skilled hands.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRACY

A RINGING SET OF GENUINE DEMOCRATIC RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

A BOLD AND CUTTING ARRAIGNMENT OF RADICAL POLICY.

WORCESTER, September 4.—Resolutions of the Democratic Convention.

Resolved, That the Democratic party seeks to revive no dead issues, but stands by its principles which are suited to all times and circumstances, supports the Federal Government in all constitutional authority, regards what was day as Jefferson did in his day the true province of republican government to be the protection of rights and not of interests; defends the reserved rights of States and of the people, and opposes centralization that would impair or destroy the constitutional rights or independence of other departments. As the executive and legislative departments under this administration done in over-slaughtering the honest decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States by increasing their number of appointments of new Judges, who are subservient to the executive and legislative will, it opposes all interference by law with private affairs or business of men that is not required by public safety, and advocates the greatest individual liberality consistent with public order.

It opposes in the capacity of the people for self government.

It holds that the nearer the approximation can be made to universal free trade, the greater will be the advantage of the Federal Government to the people of Massachusetts.

It insists on the substitution of a banking system that shall not cost the people a higher per centage to create a currency in a few hands to loan at their own price to the industrial masses, than any other people pay for money loans wherewith to unfold their enterprises and compensate the laborers of the nation.

It opposes all legislation that places railroads or corporations beyond the jurisdiction of the people through their Legislatures.

Resolved, That intervention by the Federal administration in State politics for the benefit of its favorites and the advancement of its intrigues notoriously felt in this Commonwealth, is hostile to the freedom and purity of elections, an insult to the popular intelligence, and merits the indignant reprobation of the people jealous of their rights.

Resolved, That the time has now arrived for regulating the hours of work in manufacturing establishments to 10 hours for a day for 60 hours per week for women and children, and that the convention pledges itself to support such legislation as will secure the enactment of such a law.

The remaining resolutions are the same as those adopted by the Ohio State Democratic Convention of August 6th.

THE HALIFAX GALE.

ACCUMULATING REPORTS OF DISASTER AND DAMAGE.

FIFTY CORPSES OF AMERICAN FISHERMEN FLOATED ASHORE.

HALIFAX, September 4.—The schooner Thetis, of Lewenburg, before reported lost, with all hands, is in New London, P. E. I. harbor.

Three bodies were found in the cabin, and the remainder of the crew is supposed to have been washed off. About fifty bodies, supposed to be the corpses of American fishermen, have been washed ashore on the north side of Prince Edward's Island. Thirty-three of them were picked up between North Cape and Coslumpec.

The bark Helen, from Montreal is a total wreck on Hogg Island, north side. Seven of the crew perished. The Captain, boatswain and two sailors were saved. The boatswain was rescued from the surf by Captain McDonald, of the Dominion. A quantity of wrecked material, a boat and two bodies floated ashore at Campbell. The Captain and crew of the abandoned brig, Oak Point, was rescued by an American fishing schooner, the Gertie Lewis.

Captain Howard of the brig Oak Point, states that an American captain whom he saw at Gorso reported having passed at sea after the gale a foreign bark, painted white, on fire and burned to the waters edge. It was probably the Norwegian bark Koo Le Fauer which left Halifax the morning of the gale for New York.

HUNTING THE POLARIS.

NEWS RECEIVED OF THE JUNIATA AT GREENLAND.

WASHINGTON, September 4.—Information has been received at the Navy Department, that the United States steamer Juniata, Commander Braine, arrived at Holsteinborg, Greenland, on the 18th of July.

She touched at Fiskanses and Sickker(?). No dogs could be found at the latter port. Commander Braine, through the courtesy of Governor Frederick Larsen, procured at Holsteinborg eighteen dogs and an abundance of seal skins for clothing for the officers and men of the Tigress, and sailed on the 19th of July for Disco, and thence to upper Navik. Commander Braine had news as late as the 10th of July from Disco, but no tidings had been received there regarding the Polaris. The ice was reported very heavy at Omerrake, Tyord, and at and above the upper Navik. The health of the officers and crew of the Juniata is excellent. The dispatch to the department came by the Danish brig Constance, via. Copenhagen.

CHOLERA IN KENTUCKY.

CINCINNATI, September 4.—There were four cholera deaths in Millersburg, Kentucky. There are a number of new cases.

POLITICAL DOTS.

BUTLER AHEAD—ANTI-MONOPOLY TRIUMPH IN CALIFORNIA.

BOSTON, September 4.—The convention now stands: Butler, 174; Washburne, 151; doubtful, 14.

The latest count: Butler, 159; Washburn, 151; contested and uncommitted, 31.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—The election passed off quietly. It is believed that the anti-monopoly ticket is elected.

GOTHAM.

ANOTHER RAILROAD BOND FORGER IN LIMBO—BOND CONSPIRACY OF LONG STANDING.

NEW YORK, September 4.—The police have in custody a man named Yates, on a charge of being implicated in issuing counterfeit Buffalo and Erie bonds. They expect to get something out of Yates, but so far he has kept quiet.

Detective Sampson is very positive that forged stock of the Western Union, to a large amount, is in existence and which it is intended to put on the market.

He also believes the same of New Jersey Central bonds. Mr. Denny says detectives are on the right track, and in a few days will have all the forgers. He says counterfeits have been in circulation since July, and there is no telling where they may have reached. A number of the low committee of stock exchange say that the exchange would rather reimburse the victims for their loss than to allow any compromise to be made.

Redemption of Forfeited Lands in the State of South Carolina.

Mrs. Mary Dunn's farm, of three hundred acres, known as Prospect Hill, on Danfuskie Island, S. C., has been restored to her upon the payment of one hundred and ninety-six dollars and fifty-four cents taxes claimed by the United States government. Congress passed an act May 9th, 1872, for the relief of purchasers of land sold for direct taxes in the insurrectionary States. This act was quite inadequate, and did not amount to anything but trouble and expense. It was amended by an act to provide for the redemption and sale of lands held by the United States government under the several acts levying direct taxes, and for other purposes, approved June 8th, 1872. Those who are interested are informed that if they wish their lands restored they must make application within two years from June 8th, 1872.

Satisfactory evidence must be furnished in each case that the applicant was, at the date of the sale, the legal owner, or is the heir at law, devisee or grantee in good faith, and for valuable consideration of such legal owner. The amount of tax charged against the lands described in the application for redemption, together with the cost of advertising and of the sale of said lands, and all other proper charges against the same, together with interest at ten per centum upon the tax from the date of its assessment, and upon the costs and other legal charges from the time they accrued and were payable, must be paid into the Treasury of the United States before redemption is awarded and title restored, etc., etc. Prospect Hill was sold for taxes and bought by the government; since then it has been in possession of negroes. Judge Levi S. Russell, who was the attorney, made the point that Mrs. Dunn ought to be credited by the government for the amount of rent received by it. This was not entertained, but the rent from the time the application was entertained and granted was allowed.—Savannah Rep.

The present population of Persia is estimated at nine or ten millions, not more than 74,000 of them being dissenters from the Mahometan religion. The dissenters are Armenians, Nestorians, Jews and Guebers.

A correspondent recently asked the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher if he approved of wives spending their time at watering places and leaving their husbands to the mercy of servant girls, and received this characteristic reply: "No woman who values her domestic happiness as she should, will leave her husband thus unprotected."

Information from a competent source is to effect that the Senate will immediately on meeting in December, relieve Senator Carpenter from from its Presidency pro tempore, and probably elect, in his place, Senator Ferry, of Michigan, who was his strongest competitor last spring. The reason for Carpenter's retirement are of the most obvious and generally understood character.

A current item informs the world that "Jerusha Bryan slew a panther in Pennsylvania. She is not married." On which the Louisville Courier-Journal comments: "And she won't be either for all of us. We wouldn't go home mellow to such a woman for all that could be offered—no, not for worlds! Better would be a dinner of herbs and stalled ox therewith, or something of the kind."

There is a deadly weapon used in Mexico and California called the sand-club, made of an eel skin filled with sand. A person when struck with this weapon seldom recovers, and it never leaves any marks. For several years the police of California were puzzled to account for some mysterious deaths. After a while they captured a burglar who had in his possession one of these formidable weapons.

At a party at Marlborough House, not long ago, two of the Prince of Wales' boys were present, with the son of the Czarowitz between them. The young Russian made himself very disagreeable, and presently, like a Tartar, savagely dug his elbows into the ribs of his companions. The elder English Prince, an amiable boy, like his mother, moved away, but the younger resented the indignity, and "fetched the royal Tartar one on the nose." The Princess of Wales kindly interfered and made peace.

Gen. John C. Breckinridge spent a few days at Long Branch during the last week, and attended the races. He called as a matter of courtesy on President Grant, whom he had not seen since the Mexican war, where they were fellow officers, and very intimate. Although Gen. Breckinridge has been frequently in Washington since the close of the war, he did not think it would be delicate for him to visit the President in the Executive Mansion. He was accompanied to the President's cottage by Mr. Alan Hovey, and spent a portion of the evening in very agreeable conversation. Senator Frelinghuysen was present, and others dropped in during the evening to pay their respects. No allusion whatever was made to the late war, and the part taken by either of the two gentlemen. The President greeted Mr. Breckinridge very kindly, and referred to the last time they met, which was, I believe, when Grant was slightly wounded in one of the Mexican engagements. They called up old memories and old friends, and traced the latter into after life. There is but a year's difference in the ages of the two gentlemen, General Grant being 52 and General Breckinridge 51. The latter took his leave in about an hour, receiving an invitation to call again.

☞ The Chicago Tribune publishes crop reports from about forty counties in Illinois, embracing most of the corn growing portion of that State, and from twenty counties in different parts of Iowa. In half the counties of Illinois the yield is estimated at half to two-thirds of an average, and similar reports come from Iowa. The cause is said to be the drouth, and the season is so far advanced, that it is thought little benefit could now result from rain.

The Crop Prospects.

The agricultural monthly, published in Atlanta, is very fine. It has been steadily growing in excellence, until we can truthfully say that it is surpassed by few agricultural publications in the whole country, and is equalled by few.

The California Election.

Our last night telegraphic news confirms the statement that the California election has resulted in an overwhelming victory for the anti-railroad monopoly party.

This is the first battle between the people and the railroads, and the result has been a crushing defeat of the railroads. The contest was fierce and the victory decisive. The popular cause swept irresistibly to success. The whole power and wealth of the great railway combination could not stay the torrent.

There is certainly a broad revolution at work.

Paris Finances.

The telegraph of last night tells us that today France pays the last installment of her war indemnity to Germany. The last German soldier leaves French soil. It will be a glad day for France.

This ends a bloody and disastrous chapter in French history.

Look out now for the second act to begin. French pride has been incredibly humiliated. A deep story of vengeance is lurking in the French heart. The time for its gratification may be long, off, but it is none the less sure to come.

The debt is a terrible one. French honor will cherish the duty to pay it.

Our Letters from the Air-Line Railroad.

The Air-Line Railroad has brought into development the garden spot of Georgia, we may even say of the South. There is no country to surpass Northeast Georgia, and its expansion and progress are simply marvellous, even with the essential condition of its wonderful capacities.

We have published a remarkable series of letters describing this section and detailing its beauties and capacities to our many readers. We give one to-day that will be found very readable and graphic.

We shall continue to write up this magnificent part of our State, and to note its progress.

The Key Note in Ohio.

In his recent speech at Columbus the Hon. William Allen, the venerable Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, struck the key note of the campaign in the first sentence. "There is but one political question," said he, "before the people of the United States; all other questions are subordinate to that one and merge in it, and that question is whether it will be possible for the American people to purge the great principle of popular representation from the pollutions which now contaminate it, and to keep it free from contamination in the future." The entire speech was confined to an exposition of the doctrine enunciated in this opening paragraph, and its application not to the time of Jefferson and Jackson, but to the corruptions of the present day—the Pacific Railway swindles, the Credit Mobilier bribery, salary steal, and kindred frauds—by the politicians.

☞ The action of the Convention of Wisconsin Republican State indicates that the Wisconsin last Wednesday Carpenter's political career of Senator feat of Ex- approaching its end. The democratic Convention, the Carpenter and Post Office

...lutions denouncing the back-pay grab, of which Senator Carpenter saw fit to constitute himself the special champion, and the significant allusion in the platform to corrupt transactions of the Credit Mobilier stamp—Senator Carpenter being counted amoung the foremost supporters of the Central Pacific Ring which has its Credit Mobilier attachment in the shape of the notorious Contract and Finance Company—all point to the conclusion that when Mr. Carpenter's term as Senator expires on March 3, 1875, he will be succeeded in the Senate by Governor Washburn, and retired to private life. There in the pursuit of a lucrative private practice he will be able to compensate himself for the pecuniary sacrifices he has made in serving his country in Congress.

ODD RESURRECTION.

Ten Months at the Bottom of the Sea.

A Strange Tale of Love and Crime.

[Correspondence of the New York Herald.]

HUNTINGTON, L. I., August 30, 1873.

The quiet, old fashioned town of Huntington, on Long Island, was agitated all of this day from centre to periphery over the discovery of the remains, floating in the water of Oyster Bay, of Charles G. Kelsey, ... peace for Huntington for many ... No crime. Fate has ordained that ... months to torn by angry argument a... she shall be henceforth and forever ... fierce dissension explosion of sava... r, and that transient and feasthering ... barbarism—the tarring the part of ... the young man Kelsey on like a blac... me of her citizens—will rest fame ... shadow over her fair and placid ...r all time to come.

KELSEY'S UNHAPPY FATE

was weakening in interest. The lady who repelled his obtrusive attentions, and on whose account all his misfortunes befell him, recovered by the agency of time from the harassing worry of the early investigation and the public exposure of the infamous proceedings enacted the night Kelsey was tarred and feathered. Her name was Miss Julia Smith, a lady of much personal attractions, sensible and self-contained. Her ancestors sleep in the old Presbyterian cemetery, on the eminence overlooking the village, and she by birth, education, wealth and culture ranks ... aristocracy. A short time since she married Mr. Royal Sammis, to whom she had been for some time engaged, and who was one of the two gentlemen—the other Dr. Banks, of Huntington—who were indicted for riot and assault on Mr. Kelsey, and held under bonds. That element of the village population who believed that Kelsey, through excess of shame at the outrage perpetrated upon him, had been driven to commit suicide, settled down to this belief, and ceased, by degrees, to trouble themselves about any more theories as to the nature of his mysterious disappearance. Then there was another element that cherished a notion that the man was still alive and at large, and would at some day unexpectedly turn up under the willow trees of Huntington. They, too, were fast losing interest in the case, and the prospect appeared that the primitive peace of the village, so violently rended during the stormy legal investigation, would soon be restored. However, there was a third element, which might be called the Kelsey party proper, who held to the opinion that the man was murdered subsequent to his being tarred and feathered, in order that by silencing his voice forever he should not have a chance of revenging himself upon his persecutors.

THE REVIVAL OF EXCITEMENT.

Now the whole exciting subject, which was slowly lulling to repose, comes up with tenfold more intense and painful interest than ever. Kelsey's remains have been found, at least that part of him from his waist to his feet, and his brothers have identified him by a watch chain found in his pantaloons pocket.

Huntington to-day talked nothing but Kelsey, and the old story of his

for Miss Julia Smith was gone over in every detail. What was Kelsey's crime? ... this—and this is only what I have heard: He was a light-baliasted young man of twenty-eight years, who wrote verses and believed himself a poet. His physique was poor; one shoulder was several inches higher than the other; his eyes were weak and uncertain, and his voice had no quality of strength or melody. He fell in love—all on his own side—with Miss Julia Smith. The less encouragement she gave him the more he redoubled his efforts to make a conquest of her affections. The truth appears to be the lady never entertained a serious thought about the madly foolish lover. He wrote her endless verses and she put them in the fire.

As his acquaintance with her grew longer he became a painful bore, staring her out of countenance at church, following her whithersoever she went, until finally she proved so great a pest, that the lady's life was rendered miserable. Then came on the scene a Mr. Royal Sammis, as the affianced of Miss Smith, and when Kelsey learned this his conduct towards the lady was more openly scandalous than ever. He wrote her letters of a lewd character, enclosing her vile and obscene pictures. He prowled at night around her house, where she lived without any male protector and in company only with her sister and grandmother. His was of an unworthy and unmanly character. He climbed into her bedroom once only to find a married lady there, who put him to flight. He did very eccentric and condemnatory things, and it would seem from all that is related of him that he was little else than a satyromaniac. Mr. Royal Sammis is alleged to have told him that if he did not cease annoying Miss Smith he would "fix him." Finally he was fixed. The poor deluded Kelsey, quiet and harmless in all other respects, could not be prevailed upon by argument or threats to cease his furtive visits to the house of Miss Smith.

Mrs. Oakley, the grandmother of Miss Smith, determined at last on having Kelsey arrested; but Miss Smith not caring to make her appearance in court and prefer a complaint against him the matter dropped to the ground. In the meantime a number of citizens, to whose ears the story came of the annoyance to which Miss Smith was subjected, resolved to keep a midnight watch for Kelsey and catch him in the act of scaling the windows of Miss Smith's residence. They failed to be gratified in this regard, and soon after—it is to be presumed by some secret understanding among themselves—the project was determined on of

TARRING AND FEATHERING KELSEY.

This was done the night of the 4th of November. Kelsey was ensnared by a mock invitation from Miss Smith. A number of men ... him naked, covered

THE CALIFORNIA ELECTION.

A SWEEPING VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE'S ANTI-RAILROAD MONOPOLY TICKET.

THE ADUMBRATION OF THE FUTURE.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—The count of the vote in this city cannot be completed before Friday night or Saturday morning. Enough is known to assure a complete victory for the people's anti-Central Pacific Railroad monopoly ticket for members of both branches of the Legislature, and also on most of their municipal candidates.

For Mayor and Chief of Police the contest is very close, but the railroad issue did not enter into that part of the canvass. The Democrats claim to have chosen both of those officers; the result, however, is in doubt.

Returns from the interior of the State come in very slowly. It is impossible to make correct estimates of the result as yet. In Sacramento city, where the railroad shops are located, four thousand votes were cast. The railroad leaders claim a majority of three or four hundred.

This, the Independents say will be largely overcome in the county, and so insure a victory over the railroad.

In nearly every town heard from thus far the independent anti-railroad is ahead.

WASHINGTON.

THE WAWASSETT AFFAIR—THE SEARCH FOR THE POLARIS.

WASHINGTON, September 4.—The owners of Wawassett in the suit brought, will bring action against the government inspectors as equally derelict with themselves.

BAYONNE, September 4.—It is announced on authority that there are now about 40,000 Carlists unher arms in Spain. They are making arrangements to establish a cannon foundry near the town of Tortoza or Tarragona.

MIDNIGHT MUTTERINGS.

The California Election.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE RAILROAD DEFEAT.

The Thing Gets Bigger.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—Only 5,000 votes of this city were counted up to noon and the anti monopoly ticket was ahead of both of the others. A dispatch to Governor Booth, at Sacramento, gives 10,000 majority against railroad in the city. The stronghold of the company, which has over one thousand employees there. Alameda has gone anti; Stockton gives 500 Independent majority; Yolo county and the city of Benicia have gone Independent.

The indications are certain of a grand victory throughout the State over the Railroad ticket. Twenty-four counties thus far heard from give anti-Railroad majorities, and four Republican.

Full returns from Marysville City give a Republican majority of 179 over the Independent ticket.

The friends of Chief of Police Crowley believe he is defeated in this city.

KEY WEST, September 4.—Mail advices from Havana give the following additional facts in relation to the arrest of members of the Republican club of that city: On Monday evening, soon after the Republicans had assembled in their club, a mob of several hundred persons gathered in front of the building, and after uttering loud threats and making an attempt to force the doors and enter they were driven back, only succeeding in breaking windows. The Chief of Police then appeared with a posse and squad of cavalry. He made the Republicans open the doors and arrested all of them, some forty in number, and took them to jail. Knoxville has just started a flouring mill that can grind 180 barrels of flour in twenty-four hours.

The plans for the Vanderbilt University of the M. E. Church South, to be located at Nashville, have been completed. Work on the building is to begin at an early day.

The Columbia Herald says: One of the most brilliant ladies in this or any other place is reading law. If she should take a notion to practice, wouldn't she wheedle the juries!

Virgil King, recently sentenced to ten years imprisonment, from Memphis, for horse stealing, escaped while at work on the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad, a day or two ago.

The colored population in Tennessee has been steadily increasing during the past thirty years. In 1840 it was 188,688; in 1860, 245,881; in 1870, 322,331. The increase in thirty years has been nearly one hundred per cent.

The cotton trade of Memphis for the year 1872-3 amounted to 40,000 bales, worth $3,500,000. The duties paid on imports for the year ending with August amounts to $57,000, showing a considerable increase of direct imports. The general trade of the city is less by ten per cent. than the trade of the previous year.

Col. Gates has withdrawn from the Jackson Whig and Tribune, which he has edited for upward of a quarter of a century. He announces in his valedictory that on the 1st of October he will, in conjunction with Mr. W. R. Hamby, of the Union City Courier, begin the publication of the Jackson Courier, the former journal to be discontinued.

A bold plot, by which fifty convicts were to effect their escape from the penitentiary was discovered on Monday, in Nashville, and thwarted. A notorious desperado named Bill Smith, sentenced by the Davidson County Criminal Court to twenty-one years, on half a dozen different indictments, and Sam White, sentenced from Memphis, were the instigators, and were to take the lead. Should they have failed to escape through the window, they were to murder the hospital guard and find egress through the hospital. They were betrayed by Frank Smith, sentenced from Memphis for four years, who was pardoned. He had served three years.

The Memphis Avalanche says: "The consumption of cotton seed during the past year amounts to 25,000 tons. Three large factories have been at work nearly all the year, and one of smaller capacity a portion of the year. The aggregate product of the four mills was over $600,000, and competition was so great between the several mills, while the prices of oil and cake ran down to such a low figure, that the profit of the business was greatly less than it was in 1873. The mills turned out about 900,000 gallons of oil, 9,000 tons of oil cake, 1,400 bales of cotton, and considerable quantities of soap, refined oil for table and druggists' use, and oil cake meal. About 260 men find employment in the cotton seed oil trade here, and the enterprise, though less lucrative than in former years, is one of our most important industrial branches."

He was pursued by one of the keepers with a pack of dogs all around the city, but could not be caught. At the time of his escape he had on a pair of white shackles.

J. W. Brand & Co.—In directing attention to the card of J. W. Burke & Co., we take pleasure in commending them to our readers. It is an old and well established house and one whose dealings intelligently is read of all men." The branch house in this city is well supplied with books and stationery of all kinds. Mr. Blundell, (a member of the firm) is a gentleman, attentive and polite to all.

THE GOVERNOR'S GUARDS.—This splendid corps paraded for the first time last night, evening in the streets grounds. A large crowd of citizens assembled to witness them go through the manual of arms, and observed their perfect ability for the duty and accuracy of their evolutions. The Guards exhibit excellent training and discipline, and their uniform is attractive and showy.

BARBECUE AT FORCE DE LEON.—Yesterday a magnificent barbecue was given at Force de Leon Spring by the friends of the Piedmont Railroad, in honor of the success so far before the Supreme Court. There were some one hundred or more persons present, and some twenty-five or thirty of the fair sex. The barbecue was splendid. Speeches were made by Hon N. L. Angier and Alderman J. N. La Prade. The occasion was one of pleasantly and agreeably to all.

PERSONAL.—Hon. A. H. Stephens has returned to the city from the springs.

At the conclusion of the argument of A. W. Hammond, the Court adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow.

Eight cases of the Atlanta Circuit still undisposed of.

The United States District Court.

This court met yesterday morning at its usual hour, his Honor Judge Erskine presiding.

The case of the United States against George Cox, of Murray county, illicit distilling, which had been set down for trial, was called. The defendant failed to present himself and his bond was forfeited.

The case of the United States vs. Samuel M. Kendrick was called and tried. The prisoner was represented by Mr. A. B. Culberson, who made able and earnest efforts in his behalf. The jury, after a brief consultation, returned a verdict of not guilty, and the defendant was discharged. This case occupied most of the day's session, and at its conclusion the Court adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock.

The Commissioner's Court.

A number of prisoners have been arrested and brought here recently for violations of the Revenue laws. One of them, Mr. William Powell, of Hart county, was tried yesterday before Commissioner W. B. Smith on a charge of illicit distilling, and selling whisky without paying the special tax. He was defended by Messrs. Hill and Conley. The evidence against Mr. Powell was too much, and the Commissioner ordered his discharge. This morning Commissioner Smith will investigate the case against Mr. S. M. Burden, of the same county, who is charged with working in an illicit distillery.

The Justices' Courts.

Justice Sasseen yesterday morning tried a search warrant case between Ann Caldwell, colored, and Clara Thomas, colored. Ann and her mother, some years ago, adopted a little negro girl, whom they had carefully raised until it was large enough to be hired out. The child became acquainted with a child of Clara Thomas, and was decoyed to her house where she was taken possession of. When the officer, with the search warrant, went to Clara's house to execute it, she hid the child in a room and locked it up. Both, however, were found and brought into court. Clara, finding she had no case gave up the child and paid the costs.

Justice Munday spent his time yesterday afternoon trying a possessory warrant case. The parties were Caroline Dell and Adaline Thrasher, both negroes. The trouble between the ladies was one black broadcloth coat, valued at $9, the ownership of which they had been unable to settle. The attorneys were Mr. Finly for the plaintiff, and Mr. Thompson for the defense. We left the court room in the midst of a most elaborate argument, where, a wonderful knowledge of broadcloth coats was being displayed and didn't strength of mind enough to return. Hence we did not learn the result.

A negro named Wardlow sued out a warrant yesterday, before Justice Hammond, against a colored gentleman named Henderson for assault and battery. It seems that Wardlow called upon Henderson to collect some money which the latter owed him, and the parties had some words, and perhaps a few blows. The Magistrate dismissed the warrant after a brief hearing at the Prosecutor's costs.

Efforts were also made to have a trial in the rock throwing case to which we alluded in our last paper, but they were unsuccessful.

This morning at eight o'clock this magistrate will try scores of more than ordinary interest. The prosecutor is Mr. Bettendorf, and the defendants is Mr. August Haganey. The trouble between these gentlemen arose in the following manner: Mr. Haganey runs a patent machine near the brewery, where, in about five minutes, he can transform any ordinary sized cow into a string of Bologna sausages. The proprietor lost a cow about a month ago, and, to save his life could not tell where she had gone to. A few days since, he purchased a most tempting looking sausage from the smiling Haganey, and traveled homeward filled with ideas of how he would astonish his wife and family, and especially that Bolona sausage about supper time. But his hopes were doomed to be blasted. The first mouthful of that sausage didn't taste exactly right, the second ratified him that something was wrong, and at the third the harrowing conviction burst upon his soul that he was eating his own cow. Comment upon his feelings is entirely unnecessary. Haganey was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with cow stealing. We learn that the balance of that sausage, together with some twenty witnesses, will be introduced in evidence. Messrs. Westmoreland and Spraggerry will represent the prosecution. Messrs. Culberson & McAfee, contra.

Station House Report.

Seven prisoners were provided with lodgings at the police quarters last night. The only offenses alleged were disorderly conduct and drunkenness. No State arrests were made by the police.

Water for the City.

Editors Constitution: I see from your report of the proceedings of the call session of the City Council, that my friend Mr. G. W. Adair, stated in a speech that he would correct the impression I had made on the public mind in causing them to to believe that the commissioners were proposing to tap South river below the sewer emptyings of the city. I am obliged to him for so doing; and if I really made any such impression on any one, I ask pardon. It was certainly not intended.

I did not suppose that it was necessary to go as low down as that to find filth, but only spoke of South River as I would of the Chattahoochee, or any other river. Is there a lady in Atlanta who would be willing to take a drink of water out of South River, above the mouth of Entrenchment Creek, or out of any river at any place?

Of course they do so in many cities, because they cannot help themselves. But did you ever hear any one say that they liked it? It is useless for me to go into detail as to the filth universally found in rivers—all of course are acquainted with the facts.

Some say it purifies itself in passing through the pipes. If so, where does it go to? Does it pass through the iron? If so, it is more subtle than chemists and philosophers have ever given it credit for. Or, if it adheres to the surface of the pipes, what prevents its choking them?

No, fellow-citizens, ladies and gentlemen, I will tell you where it is. It is in the water; and when you first commence drinking of it, you will taste it, though after you become accustomed to it you will cease to taste it, but it is present in the same proportion, notwithstanding.

Respectfully,

T. D. TRUMAN.

FOR THE AIR-LINE.

The Constitution's Revelations About Glorious Northeast Georgia Opened to the World.

Clarksville and Mountain Scenes—Tallulah—The Devil's Pulpit—Lover's Leap.

A Supplic and Interesting Letter.

Editors Constitution: From Mt. Airy to Clarksville is eight miles—the first mile and a half rugged, rooty and rutty, the remainder over a good road.

CLARKSVILLE.

Clarksville is an ancient, well built town, consisting principally of one street and a corner around the court-house, which is the only brick building in the place. Nearly every residence is surrounded by a garden. We saw but two churches, the Presbyterian and Episcopal.

The Northern House, kept by the Hon. Samuel McMillan, is admirably situated on a commanding elevation, with grassy plat and fine shade trees. The house is small, and cannot accommodate one quarter of the travel, soliciting accommodation. We understand that a considerable addition will be made to the house for next season.

The Globe House is kept by Col. O'Calligan, is quite a large establishment, and everything is done by the host in the way of personal attention to contribute to comfort. But the house is sadly behind the times in almost every essential par icular. Poor ground in front and sides, and market garden in the rear. When people from the towns visit the country, they want greenery for the eye to rest on.

The site of Clarksville is well chosen. It is situated upon the ridge separating the headwaters of the Chattahoochee from the Sequatchie mountains stretching from the west to the northeast. To the westward, Yonah raises its bold, conical mass, flanked by Big Sal and Little Sal. To the northward is Trail Mountain, represented to be four thousand four hundred feet high, and the highest peak in Georgia.

It lies like a leviathan upon the horizon heaving its long ridgy back far above the neighboring mountains which are dwarfed by comparison.

THE MOUNTAIN SCENERY.

The various changes and variety of aspect of mountain scenery is as great as that of the ocean, and to some tastes more interesting. The clouds are continually floating around them, sometimes like thin smoke or a gauzy veil filmy as a spider web, or dense white piled in rolling masses, or the black nimbus from whose bosom darts the forked lightning and rolls the vollied thunder, sometimes covering the top, sometimes the sides only, leaving the summit bare; sometimes floating high above, the motion of their shadows barely perceptible; or flying rapidly like the shadow of an immense bird flitting athwart the sunlit surface.

Clarksville is midway between Tallulah Falls, Toccoa Falls and Nacoochee Valley. Before the war it was one of the best patronized of the summer resorts off amilies from the seaboard. Among the families whose names we recall were those of General Clinch, Matthew Hale McAllister, Esq., Judge Law, John McPherson Berrien, Mr. Bean, from Augusta; the Messrs. Matthews, from Charleston; Mr. Owens, from Savannah. Most of their families still resort here. One of the finest residences, that of Senator Berrien, was burned by a marauding party during the war. The house of Judge McAllister is vacant and out of repair. It stands upon a commanding eminence, and is reached through a most beautiful avenue of white pines. It contains about fourteen rooms, and is a spacious and elegant summer residence.

The rocks are quartz, and many filled in the scales of Mica. An obelisk of quartz, five feet high, is built near the house, and presents a beautiful appearance. The crystals are white, cream-colored, and some pink.

TALLULAH FALLS.

The distance from Clarksville to the Falls is about fourteen miles—the road up and down hill, and much of it stony. The house of Dr. Branch is about four miles from the Falls. It is a gentleman's residence, and is a very comfortable place to stop.

The height of the descent from the prime level above to the falls house is, perhaps, four hundred feet. About midway, upon a comparatively level promontory, was the old hotel which has been burned. The present house is situated near the edge of the ravine, through which the river flows, and within full hearing of the continuous roar of rapids, cataract and falls.

Our first visit was to Angelina's Outlook, a name given by the Rev. Dr. Spalding, in honor of the handsome hostess of the Falls House. The name Spalding has been cut upon the rocks at the foot of the walk, bears the name of Angelina. Manly sentiment at the foot of beauty. Pretty well done for the Doctor. I must go to hear his preach. He is not a dry stick, but a fellow man with a heart in him.

From the Outlook you have a fine view of the Rapids, which are a noisy herald—a boisterous and ranting avant courier of the formidable power below. The height is perhaps two hundred feet, the general width of the chasm, though we are doubtful of our own estimate, two or three hundred yards. The Rapids continue up the river for the distance of five miles, and below the Falls for two or three miles.

At all points of view the bed of the river is solid rock or loose boulders and stones. The angle of descent is considerable as the current is very rapid and every obstacle is met with a rush that raises an angry foam in the sweeping river.

THE DEVIL'S PULPIT.

The finest bird's eye view of the Falls is obtained from this point. It is a projecting crag which forms a rude and narrow platform from which the three principal falls may be seen. The view that bursts upon the eye from this giddy height of several hundred feet is of surpassing grandeur, and picturesque beauty. The height is so great and the precipice so steep and jagged, that an involuntary thrill of fear and awe makes the blood creep and tingle as you force yourself to the perilous edge.

The first plunge, seems a confused rush and roar of waters, frothing, fuming, white with the wrathful struggle of opposing rocks. A cataract of waters rushing down a steep and broken declivity of several hundred yards in length, at first gleding in streamy brightness over the smooth face of the rock, but in a moment were writhing, hissing, tossing, churning in mad and frantic efforts to crush the opposing rocks. Sternly the dark rocks meet the encounter and throw off the opposing force. Baffled and angry the waters rush on to other contests, till they are lost in a turn in the precipitous sides of the ravine which hide them from sight.

Gradually, however, a distinction in the character of the fall is impressed upon you. The first, Dedva, (if this is this is the way to spell the name,) rushes in a comparatively smooth rock at a steep incline, a moment's pause at the base, and with the volume of waters compressed into a narrow space, Tempester takes its bold and graceful leap. Striking some sharp jagged rocks near its base a spout of water rushes upwards like the spouting of a whals. The air is filled with spray and mist. Onward hurries the stream for its greatest, most turbulent and daring leap, where Hurricane hurls the mass of waters like a rock from a catapult, or like a lion of the desert, starved and hungry, rushing upon his prey, with the loud resounding roar. Thus the waters of the tremendous Hurricane cataract leap and bound and roar and creach.

The last diversion is Oceana. This is a steeply inclined rapid, whose bed of rocks is very broken and unequal, and the water is turned into a mass of seething foam. This last encounter seems to exhaust the strength of the foaming monster, and the stream subsides into rapids, and you again see the gleam of the dark water which in the previous descents was as white as wool.

LOVER'S LEAP.

This point is nearly half a mile below the falls, and commands a view of the Serpentine, from the tallest precipice on the river. The height is variously estimated. I think it about five hundred feet. The cliff and hill on the opposite side are a hundred feet higher. If the falls were entirely obliterated, the gorge alone would be visited for its rugged grandeur and beauty. The base and sides of the precipice for one-third the way are covered with most luxuriant vegetation, moss and lichen and vines and fern cover all, and every nook and crannny which would hold a handful of decomposed stone bears a small tree or shrub.

The middle part is as bare of vegetation as the stone parapet of a walled town—the face of the cliff so smooth and steep and even, without seam or fissure, that even the moss seems to find no nourishment. The upper part is again clothed with verdure like the lower. Far below we detected, for the first time in Georgia, the red bolls of the wild cucumber tree. It is one of the rarest, as well as one of the most graceful trees of our forests, and indicates a rich soil.

A little below us a rivulet slid along the steep in, falls of the rock till it reached the trunk, when it dashed over in silvery spray. On the opposite side a similar stream stole in shadow and flashed in sunshine down the rugged face of the rock.

FISHING POND.

Above the hotel there is a calm stretch where a few indifferent fish can be caught. It is a curious fact that while the head waters of the streams which flow into the Mississippi and its tributaries abound in trout, there are none to be found in those flowing into the South Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico.

It would be worth the thought of the government to turn its attention to the head waters of the Chattahoochee and the Savannah as a suitable habitation for fish of more northern latitudes.

W. B. VINARD.—In a conversation with Col. John M. Clarke, yesterday, who left visiting W. B. Vinard, we regretted to learn that popular official and esteemed citizen was no better, and is still very

LOST AND FOUND.

A Little Three Year Old Boy of Mr. C. A. Kendall Strayed Away.

Intense Anxiety in the Community Manifested.

About 9 o'clock Wednesday morning a little three year old son of Mr. Charles A. Kendall strayed away from home. The little fellow was in the yard at 9 o'clock, and soon thereafter his mother missed him, and the strictest search kept up throughout the day and until late at night and to-day.

Mr. Kendall was on the train in the rear of the Stubblefield House. He was away and telegraphed to come home. Mrs. Kendall was almost distracted with apprehensions in regard to her lost little one. Friends joined her in the search yesterday, and the police were assisting in their efforts. They canvassed almost every part of the city, and even went across the river to East Macon.

The whole city became aroused, and search was instituted in every quarter.

At length the heart of his agonized mother was made glad. To-day little Charlie was found three miles from the city beyond Vineville by Warren Hill, and the little wanderer was well.

MR. HOPSON'S BODY.

The body of Mr. Hopson will reach Macon by Friday evening by the Augusta train. Capt. T. G. Hill telegraphed that the remains left New York on Tuesday evening.

His funeral will be attended by the Masons and the Board of Trade.

WIFE BEATING.

Judge Weems sentenced the wife beater, Spencer Hancock, of the colored method of matrimony, to the chain gang for eight months.

CENTRAL PARK.

Cities are like individuals, some prosper, others do not, and many have but indifferent success. Energy and ability in the individual, despite obstacles, insure success. Cities are not wholly dependent on natural advantages. Instances exist where they have by the sheer enterprise of the citizens by far distanced more favored rivals. Atlanta demonstrates the case, yet it is not proposed to consider her natural advantages, or rather want of them, or her present attainments. It is the men of the place that has determined its character. Whatever resources Macon has, she also seems to have men competent to develop them. They appear to have a practical faith in the future of their city, are not indifferent to municipal prosperity, and seems to recognize the fact individually, that the advancement of every man demands that the city prosper rapidly and vigorously. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars are on her University; one hundred and twenty thousand on her Court House, and has spent thousands on her Park, and is still willing to do more for schools, colleges, or anything else that will materially aid in her advancement and prosperity.

What an addition to Macon is the Central Park, although not exactly such a "boundless contiguity of shade" as Cowper sighed for, yet its cool emeraldeous shade rendered it a desirable retreat yesterday. Pleasant zephyrs hovered about shady nooks stirring the leaves with Aolian melody, refreshing to the ear as the purling of a rill through the grass on an august day. Macon is to be envied its Park, where the care worn son of toil can enjoy the luxury of hours of rest, free from the smoke and dust of the city. Where they can have a quiet, dreamy enjoyment—a complete abandonment of mind and body to the influence of the place. Something more of the Park at another time.

STATE FAIR.

The efficient and courteous Secretary of the State Fair association, Mr. M. J. Huston, informs the writer that the prospects for a very large attendance at the Fair are very flattering. The citizens of Macon are certainly evincing great determination as far as they are able to make it a success. And truly is it to be hoped that it will be a success; that agriculture, mechanical invention, stock raising, every department of domestic and ornamental art, and every branch of industry, may be stimulated by it. Whatever contributes to the substantial growth of Georgia; whatever makes her self supporting and self sustaining, is a blessing. Such we regard a State Fair, and so wish its success unbounded.

TRADE.

Though only a few days of September have passed, and the weather continues exceedingly warm, still there is a decided improvement in the business of the city. Merchants are hopeful and anticipate a lively and remunerative trade during the approaching season.

THE CONSTITUTION having a large circulation in, above and below Macon, our readers who have purchases to make in the city would do well to consult our advertising columns. A liberal advertiser invariably holds out extra inducements to the public.

COUNTY COURT.

Visiting the court room yesterday, we recognized an old acquaintance in his Honor Judge Weems, who was doing all he could in his office to promote justice. The term "old" does not apply to the Judge, for as he looks fully as young and has the same handsome face as when Solicitor General of the Northern Circuit. As a judge he is upright, firm, grave and impartial, and in his courtesy to the bar, always the gentleman.

A number of civil cases were disposed of during the morning. A criminal case, though not one of general importance was also divided.

CITY GUARD HOUSE.

Owing to the warm weather, efficient police, or the law abiding disposition of the citizens, not an inmate occupied the above house Wednesday night, at least such was the case when visited by this reporter at a late hour. He found the cell doors all opened, and the officer in charge enjoying his "otium cum dig," in a chair outside the building.

COTTON CROP.

After conversing with several of the most reliable cotton merchants in the city, we are more than ever convinced that the crop in Georgia will be a large one—in fact, larger than that of last year. 'Tis true, that in some sections of the State, the caterpillar is bad, then too in other sections, the boll worm and rust are doing damage, while in other localities the crop is not fruiting as well as could be desired, still notwithstanding these things, the destruction of the crop as yet, is not appalling as disasters as would indeed the public to imagine. As a matter of course time may work quite a change, still the indications now point to a very large crop.

HOT.

This word perhaps will sufficiently express the degree of weather in the city yesterday, if not, the following lines tell the story:

"September's hot sun poured down in fervid heats,
In striking beams, that knocked a mortal down,
And made the perspiration flow in streams,
In regal streams, descending from his crown."

The present hot sunshine is causing the bolls to mature very rapidly.

And what a vast sum of money this cotton will bring when disposed of, and yet how are the reflection when we think of the thousands of dollars that must leave the State to pay for bacon, mules, wagons, plows, fertilizers, ax heives, hoe handles, shoes, corn, hay, shoe pegs, hats, rope, cotton goods, etc. Many of these things should be raised at home. All should learn that manufacture is the complement of agriculture. Granges are being formed in our State, and our farmers say that their present oppressive circumstances is to be attributed to the monopolies in transportation and exorbitant charges on the part of "middle men." A reduction of freight rates evades the true cause of the evil. We should produce, raise and manufacture here. The farm and manufactory should be close together. Every variety of product, for which our soil promises the raw material should be manufactured in our State.

If Georgia would become self reliant, and manufacture, and grow, (for grow she will,) she will be attended here. Let us help ourselves, and soon our imagined evils will not only vanish, but increased fortune will be our inheritance.

PRETTY GOOD.

Mr. Morgan, of Atlanta, who represents Butler's City Mills of that place, sold eight car loads of flour in Macon yesterday. And it was rather a dull day for flour selling, too.

IMPROVEMENTS.—We notice marked improvements in progress on McDonough street. Mr. E. T. Allen, Frank Lee and Amos Moore have laid down substantial brick pavements in front of their residences. The whole block, with the exception of a small space, is paved. Mr. Moore has raised his house and improved it otherwise.

Colonel Z. D. Harrison, Clerk of the Supreme Court, on the other side of the street, is also laying down a fine pavement in front of his handsome residence.

REVIVAL.—The revival at the Fourth Baptist Church is progressing finely. Prayer meeting at 3 A. M., and services at 7:45 o'clock.

PERSONAL.

The approach of the business season is bringing numerous citizens back to their homes. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. J. Hertz, and Mr. Berj. Sunlight, are pleased to welcome their return.

FIRST OF THE SEASON.

The house of Messrs. Ells & Laney possessed unusual powers of attraction yesterday. It was the pride and delight of gastronomy. Not oyster soup. It drew many a visitor to the establishment, who carried with them a rare voracity and stomach of no ordinary calibre. 'Tis a pleasure to visit Ells & Laney's, for they naturally repress confidence in gastronomic abnormalities as to Egypt.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Resolutions and Letter of Young Ladies of Wesleyan Female Institute, Virginia, Staunton, Va., and Reply by Dr. T. S. Powell, of Atlanta.

At a full meeting of the graduates in schools and full graduates for the session 1873-3, held in the Chapel of the Wesleyan Female Institute, at Staunton, Virginia, on June 18th, 1873 the following series of resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That we desire hereby to indicate our sincere and heartfelt appreciation of the noble sentiment and handsome rhetoric of the address delivered by Dr. Thomas S. Powell, of Atlanta, Georgia, on June 16th, 1873, before the graduates of the Wesleyan Female Institute.

Resolved, That we heartily congratulate the authorities, patrons, pupils and friends of the institution upon their good fortune in hearing an address, which has so completely met the demands of so important and interesting an occasion.

Resolved, That as young ladies, just verging into womanhood, and on the eve of introduction to the various legitimate duties of our sex in the great drama of active life, we will cherish the worthy tribute paid by the orator to the character of the true christian woman, and shall bear with us, in faithful recollection through life, the wholesome counsel accompanying this tribute.

Resolved, That the following young ladies, Misses Ella Yelverton, Lee Anna Rountree and Kate Taylor be appointed a committee to correspond with Dr. Powell, and request a copy of his address for publication.

Resolved, That the city papers of Staunton, Va., Atlanta, Ga., and all papers throughout the Southern States, be requested to publish these resolutions.

(Signed) M. LOU JONES, of Texas,
LOUISE DOGGETT, of Virginia,
LULA L. DICKERSON, of Georgia,
Committee selected by the graduates.

ATLANTA GA., July 28, 1873.

Young Ladies: Your kind letter, bearing the resolutions of the graduates of the Wesleyan Female Institute, requesting a copy of my address at the late commencement of the institute, has been received. Words fail me to express the emotion of my heart in response to the encomiums you have bestowed upon my effort to portray the sublime character of the christian woman, and if in the slightest I have contributed one line of beauty to the picture—though it were "folly to tint the rose, or gild the lily," my reward has been full, and the measure of my joy complete, conscious that the theme is one to which all the beauty of poetry, the tenderness of music, and the richness of poesy owe their inspiration and glory.

It would afford me the greatest happiness to accede to your very flattering request for the publication of my address, but so much has been said and written better and wiser of women, that an unpretentious sentiment of modesty checks the presumption of so high a degree of merit it has been your kindness to accord it. On the other hand, all that has been said in woman's praise and her virtues has failed to fill the measure of her deserts from the feeblest warbling of the minstrel to the loftiest strains of poet laureates.

As worn is the friend and the humblest of her advocates, I fain

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

Gail Hamilton on Clerks.

From Harper's Bazar]

A plainly but perfectly dressed lady, with the best blood of the world in her veins, and —what is more imposing to the haberdashing heart—with plenty of money in her pocket, went, not long since, into a shop to buy napkins. The potentate of the counter snowed her such napery as he thought suited to her social position. "There are rather coarse," she suggested. "Have you none finer?" "Yes, yes," said the gentleman, "but they are more expensive." It is ever to be regretted that the lady turned in silence and left the shop, because that clerk will never know that it was his own idiotic effrontery, and not the expense of the napkins, which lost him the customer.

A lady who never made any great figure in the world and certainly not in watering roof cloak on a rainy day, was seeking a parasol. The clerk showed her some very common, not to say shabby, specimens, which she declined. A little further down the counter she bought a whole piece of fine and costly lines, observing which the night of the parasol came down and forced her to reexamine his assortment, of which he had contrived to unearth an altogether different and better collection. She, too, fell below the requirements of the occasion, and bought her parasol without enlightening him upon her discovery of his stupid mistake.

A lady, large and lovely, a serene Quaker goddess, made some benevolent casual remark to the clerk with whom she was trafficking, just as she would have patted the head of a strange dog who might have run up and sniffed at her gown, and the little whipper-snapper clerk followed her to the door and—winked at her! And while she stood staring at him in her first amazed consciousness of his individual existence, he winked again! Thus vacuous do the gods make a human skull, yet furnish it with all the ganglia of life.

Happy those merchants who can secure the right sort of clerks—for a right sort there is. I bought a table-cloth of him yesterday. I had forgotten to take the size of the table or a pattern of the color to be matched. Patiently he evolved my probable needs from my fragmentary facts, discussed pleasantly the presumptive evidence, and seemed as much interested in the harmonies of my dining room as if he had expected to eat there thrice a day during the remainder of his natural life. Did he deceive me? Not a bit. I know of a surety that my dining room was no more to him than the peanut stand on the common opposite. Me and it has he already alike forgotten. None the less was his momentary and friendly, but not familiar, assumption of interest in me and mine altogether winning and encouraging, and doubtless also was it for that moment, altogether sincere. His sympathetic and refined nature does unquestionably and spontaneously ally itself for succor and good cheer to all who appeal to him. May his kind heart, his welcoming face, and his engaging manners be a mine of wealth to himself and all his employers and dependents.

DR. TUTT'S PILLS require no change of diet or occupation; produce no griping. They contain no drastic ingredients.

A GREAT HORROR DONE AWAY WITH. House cleaning is a great horror to nine men out out of every ten. When that time comes the "men folks," as a general rule, give the domestic hearth a "wide berth." Oceans of suds—the product of tons of soap—fairly flood every part of the house. The women, from the mistress down, labor as they never worked before, and what with the discomfort, the smell of the suds and the dampness, and not unfrequently sickness, the product of colds and overwork, matters are generally disagreeable. The simple use of Sapolio instead of soap does away with all this discomfort. It lightens the labor a hundred per cent, because it removes dirt, grease, stains and spots, with hardly any labor, with but little water, and in one-tenth the usual time. aug29–d1w&w1t

VICTIMS of obscure diseases, seeking safety and restored health, should use Dr. Helmbold's Extract Buchu. This article is official and standard. It is, moreover, the only preparation that develops the full value of Buchu as a diuretic. It is a perfect specific for all diseases of the urinary organs in male or female. Beware of counterfeits and imitations, which unscrupulous men are endeavoring to palm off upon Dr. Helmbold's reputation. Look for the Doctor's signature on the wrapper. sept2–deod1w

WHY WILL YE DIE?—Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the "courses," Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nerve centres, improving the blood and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent Doctors use it. Prepared by J. H. Bradfield, druggist, Atlanta, Ga; $1 50 per bottle, and sold by respectable druggists everywhere.

MR. L. H. BRADFIELD—Sir: Please forward us, immediately, another supply of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR. We find it to be all that is claimed for it, and we have witnessed the most decided and happy effects produced by it. Very respectfully,

I could add a thousand other certificates; but I consider the above amply sufficient proof of its virtue. All I ask is a trial.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

The startling drawback on nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of preparation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for the agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY AND STRENGTHEN

At one and the same time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which full realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. The important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,

Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach, and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING PUGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.

Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists.

Principal office, 18 and 20 Platt St., New York.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and renovator of glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "run down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a prodigy-ilion to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS'

EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA

Is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is guaranteed to relieve all these difficulties: It will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED ORGANS.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should suppress any amount of certification, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 25 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

Price 50 cents a Box.

None genuine unless it bears the signature of N. C. Williams and picture of Dr. Calhoun.
